

2018 Extravaganza to Feature "Big Sexy Smith!"

The Extravaganza Planning Committee is pleased to announce this year's Extravaganza will feature a 2-1/2 hour long performance by popular vocalist "Big Sexy Smith" on stage at the Town of Schuyler's Wood Lane Park Pavilion.

A Boonville resident, Shawn Smith became famous when he landed a top spot on Cee Lo Green's team on NBC's "The Voice" back in October, 2013, with his rendition of Zac Brown's "Chicken Fried."

A graduate of Herkimer County Community College, Shawn's musical career began when he was serving in the Iraq War; he had brought his guitar along, and soon became the "morale guy" in his unit. Despite suffering a concussion resulting in a hearing loss when he ran over an explosive device, Smith continued pursuing his love of music and playing the guitar following his service to our country, and soon became a popular and much sought-after feature in local pubs and entertainment centers, eventually landing a spot on "The Voice."

We look forward to presenting "Big Sexy Smith" as our main feature on the occasion of our 20th Anniversary Extravaganza! Truly a "Do Not Miss" performance by an outstanding musical artist — so save the date! We look forward to seeing everyone there on Saturday, August 11th!
